21-Year Murder Sentence Upheld By Supreme Court

Verdict on Jonesboro Youth Affirmed Monday on Appeal

OFFICER WAS SLAIN

Two Companions of Slayer Are Given New Trials

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—A 21-year sentence imposed on Ralston Ransom, Craighead county youth, for the slaying of Deputy Sheriff J. H. Jenkins, was upheld by the Arkansas Supreme Court Monday but the court reversed and remanded the cases of two companions given similar sentences.

The slaying occurred near Jonesboro when the deputy stopped the three youths, Ransom, his brother Charles, and James McElroy, to search their automobile for liquor.

The transcript of the case showed that Ralston Ransom admitted he shot the officer.

The appellate court said the evidence was insufficient to connect the other youths with the slaying.

Ills of Nation Are Given By Murray

Oklahoma Chief Touches Only Generally Upon Presidential Race

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Current ills of the nation and some remedies were discussed here Saturday night by W. H. Alfalfa, Oklahoma, in an address before several thousand persons in city park. Governor Murray's appearance was under the auspices of the local Murray-for-President club.

The governor touched only generally upon the 1932 presidential campaign and did not refer to himself specifically as a candidate. The general theme of his remarks was economics.

As for the 1932 presidential problem, Governor Murray believes "the American people should unite on fundamentals, instead of moral questions—infant baptism, the inflexible moral code, and all the various creeds and beliefs, on which we have always differed in opinion and always will."

The next presidential campaign, he believes, should be based on economic errors, and among these "errors" he listed the banking system—with special reference to credits—and the tariff. He urged the necessity for a lower tariff and reciprocity in tariff agreements with other nations that would benefit the farmers as well as the manufacturers.

A closer trade relationship with South America instead of Europe, as a step not only toward improving business conditions but toward preventing future wars," was advocated by Governor Murray.

The speaker predicted that if the democratic party should gain control of the government in 1932 "it will hold power for the next 20 years." He expressed the belief that political parties are essential but that "they exist for the good of the country and not the country for the good of the parties."

The trouble with politics, however, he said, is that public officials are no more than flunkies of the professional politicians. "They are elected by the politicians and they serve them rather than the people. It is time for the people to elect their leaders and not until the people do their own choosing of officials will they have good government."

The robber is alleged to have taken $25 in money and a quantity of merchandise.

He was traveling on a blue bicycle and the Hope officers trailed him from one town to another until he arrived in Little Rock early Monday.

The case was turned over to Sheriff John L. Wilson, who left at noon for Little Rock to return the prisoner here.

Mississippi to Hold Special Session

Bilbo Sets Tuesday as the Meeting Date to Save State's Finances

JACKSON, Miss.—(P)—An extraordinary session of the Mississippi legislature to save the state from threatened bankruptcy was called for Tuesday by Governor Theodore Gilmore Bilbo Sunday.

"The people are crying and praying and hoping for immediate and substantial relief," read the governor's session proclamation.

"The situation is desperate," it read.

Measures outlined for immediate consideration by the chief executive follow:

Cotton acreage reduction similar to steps taken recently by Texas; lifting of a $7,000,000 deficit from the state treasury; correcting in 1930 banking act for issuance of $5,000,000 in state bonds to pay holders of state deposit guaranty certificates; issuance of bonds for hard surfaced road program to relieve unemployment; reduction in governmental operation expenses and tax relief.

"Poverty and distress, high tax burdens forcing bankruptcy, loss of homes by tax sales threatens every community in Mississippi," the governor said. "Unless something is done at once, over half the homes in Mississippi will be sold for taxes and there will be a bread line by the first of the year in every town in Mississippi with no one to furnish the bread."

E. G. Porterfield House Is Damaged

Fire Also Threatens Residence of Mrs. Jeff Russell

The E. G. Porterfield residence on South Main street was badly damaged by fire which broke out at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning.

The flames apparently started in the roof, and burned the upper portion of the building, with damage of probably $1,500.

A large crowd gathered in front of the structure, to watch city firemen bring the blaze quickly under control.

While the fire was under way, a second alarm was turned in from the home of Mrs. Jeff Russell, on Elm street, almost directly behind the Porterfield house.

The Russell residence caught fire in the roof from flying embers, but the blaze was extinguished without serious damage.

Mass Meeting of Cotton Farmers at 2:30 Tuesday

Rep. Pilkinton to Seek Opinion—Acreage Reduction

MAY CALL SESSION

Bilbo Summons Mississippi Solons for Action Like Texas'

Hempstead county cotton producers will be called to order at a mass meeting at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Hope city hall to determine what action will be asked of Governor Pilkinton regarding cotton acreage in 1932.

The meeting was announced last week by I. L. Pilkinton, one of the county's representatives in the legislature. When the Huey Long cotton "holiday" program was under discussion two weeks ago Mr. Pilkinton and the other county representative, Curtis Cannon, announced that a mass meeting of the cotton farmers would be called before the representatives made any recommendation to the governor.

With the defeat of the Long prohibition plan, and adoption of the Olsen cotton bill to restrict cotton acreage to 30 per cent of the cultivated area in 1932 and 1933, by the Texas legislature, chief interest is now focused on this measure.

Governor Bilbo issued an order for a special session of the Mississippi legislature beginning this Tuesday. Mississippi is to consider a law similar to that adopted last week by Texas.

Governor Bilbo has announced that he will call a special session in Arkansas only when he is certain that public opinion is so strong it will justify him incurring the added expense of the special session.

Representative Pilkinton, at the meeting Tuesday, will seek the fullest expression from local farmers.

Century Old Louisiana State University Structures Given New Use

The apartments will be rented by the university, which will be moved to a new plant south of Baton Rouge and will no longer need the property for housing students.

Garages and janitors will be provided as well as other modernities that may disturb the historic ghosts of French, Spanish, English, Confederate and United States federal government tenures of occupation.

Lewis Sees Reed Big Hope for Presidency

KANSAS CITY.—(P)—J. Hamilton Lewis, democratic United States senator from Illinois, said here Sunday Former United States Senator James A. Reed of Missouri had an excellent chance to become the democratic presidential nominee in 1932.

"I know that Senator Reed could obtain a larger support in Illinois for president than any other candidate," said Mr. Lewis, "and I am convinced no other man could marshal any greater strength in the west than the man who represented Missouri in the United States senate for 18 years."

Mr. Reed said less than a week ago he would consider it a compliment to have the Missouri delegation pledged to him at the next convention. The Missouri delegation tried for the nomination in 1928 when the democrats met at

A. L. Pickard, sought by the Hope police department for many months, was arrested here Saturday by local officers on a charge of forging a number of checks.

Pickard, whose home is near Bodcaw, is alleged to have given Hope merchants small checks over a period of several months. Most of the checks were given on J. M. May of Bodcaw.

Government Aids Northwestern Area

Third Year of Drouth—U. S. Shares With Mortgage Holders

WASHINGTON.—In the Northwestern states, where the third summer of drouth has just closed, the federal government is commencing to advance money to the farmers to enable them to carry their livestock through the winter. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, commenting upon the loan contract used by the government, said Monday:

"Among other regulations, we have required that, where livestock is already mortgaged, the present mortgage holder shall waive so much of his prior lien as to give the Government a proportionate part of the security. We have not asked that the Government be given the first mortgage. Rather, we have asked merely that the present mortgage share his security with us in such proportion as the amount of his loan and the advance made by the Government shall bear to the value of the livestock. For example, if the Government lends $18 per head and the present mortgage holds a lien for $36 per head, such mortgage would, in event of sale of the property, receive two dollars to each one dollar the Government might collect. If he holds $54 to our $18, he would collect 3 to our $1, and so on proportionately."

"Vigorous objections are being made by mortgage holders in these States to this part of our regulations. It seems to be the view that the Government should advance the money for winter feeding, and accept the farmers' note plus such vague security as a second mortgage would give. This would mean that in the large number of cases where the first mortgage is equal to or in excess of the value of the cattle, the Government would carry the cattle through the winter, only to have them sold later for amounts which would satisfy only the present mortgage. It would mean in many cases that the farmer would be saddled with an additional burden of debt, while the Government loans had served only to make the present mortgage holder safe. This would be relief for mortgage holders—not for farmers."

"Our regulations requiring some participation in the first lien is designed to protect the farmer from foreclosure. We want to help him carry his cattle through the winter. Surely the protection of the farmer is no detriment to the mortgage holder. He, of all men, ought to be most interested in the success of his farmer-debtor. His own welfare depends upon it. Clearly the feeding of the cattle through the winter is a larger measure of protection to the mortgagee than any possible detriment which might accrue to him through sharing the lien proportionately for the advances of cash to feed his security."

"In the case of loans made by Intermediate Credit Banks which, under the law, have no power to waive any part of their lien, it is possible to meet the farmers' needs by increasing their present loans to cover the amount necessary for feed. Where this procedure is not practicable, this department is studying means of filling all legitimate requirements of the farmer through a rewriting of the entire chattel indebtedness."

Fire Chief Kills Negro Alleged In Robbery Attempt

Chief Oscar Wyatt Bound Over on Murder Charge

HAD $200 IN PURSE

H. Lester, Wyatt's Companion, Struck by Negro, Officers Are Told

Fire Chief Oscar Wyatt shot and killed James Moss, negro, 20, at the Southwest Arkansas Fair Grounds at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, and was bound over to the October grand jury Monday on a murder charge.

He made bond of $2,500. When arraigned before Justice S. F. Huntley Monday morning, Chief Wyatt through his attorney, W. S. Atkins, waived examination, and no evidence was presented regarding events at the Fair Grounds early Sunday.

The murder charge was filed on information from the office of Deputy Prosecuting Attorney John Vesey.

According to the story told to officers by Chief Wyatt, who is also employed by the Arkansas Natural Gas corporation, he had gone to the Fair Grounds about midnight Saturday to disconnect the various gas lines which served the concessions during the fair. He was accompanied by Harvey Lester, employee of the Southern Ice & Utilities Co.

About 2 o'clock Sunday morning the negro Moss appeared and struck Lester, knocking him behind a building. Chief Wyatt said, Wyatt shot Moss through the heart.

Lester showed officers a pocketbook containing $200 which the men said had occasioned the negro's attack upon them.

Wyatt surrendered to Policeman Turner and Special Policeman Hinton.

Wrangling Heard In Earl Quinn Trial

Bitter Cross Examination Over Gun and Bullets Used in Death

NEWKIRK, Okla.—(P)—Wranglings over ballistics involving the pistol and shells the state heard by the trial of Earl Quinn, charged with murdering the school teachers.

Echoes from Chicago's gangland came in insinuations by defense counsel when the state's fourteenth witness Seth Wiard, took the stand to give expert testimony about the pistol and shells he said were fired in it by the murderer.

Bitter cross-examination by Mathers brought the trial to a halt when he examined bullets taken from the bodies of seven men killed in Chicago three years ago in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, and that from this evidence the district attorney had refused to bring indictments.

Wiard testified that a bullet found in the ground beneath the spot where Zexia Griffith's head lay was fired from the automatic pistol the state produced as an exhibit. Previously, Charles Waggoner, Tonkawa police chief, was recalled to the stand and narrated his story of finding the pistol in Sandhill to which he said he had been directed by Mrs. Jenn Quinn, wife of the defendant.

Farmer Slain By Infuriated Horse

Fights Back at Animal But Receives Kick on Skull

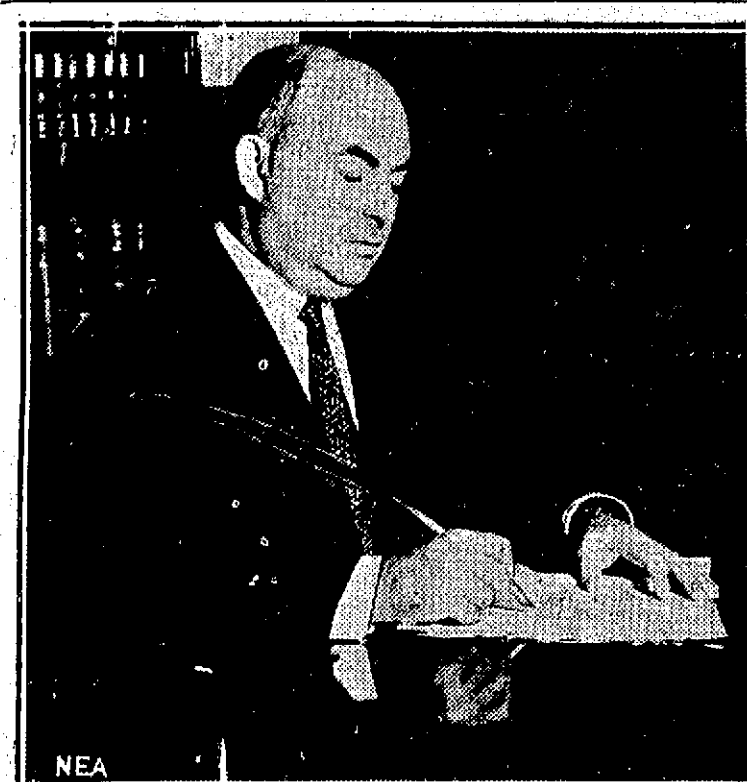

ARKADELPHIA, Ark.—Pope Alexander, 40, a farmer en route from Hermitage in this state to Broken Bow, Okla., two miles west of here Sunday met almost instant death by an infuriated horse, one of two being transported in the truck he was riding.

With the horses were some hogs. The horses had given a good deal of trouble, once while passing through Arkadelphia. A short way west of Arkadelphia one of the animals reared up against the bars and Alexander was trying to fight him back when the horse struck him a powerful blow with a front hoof, crushing his skull.

The injured man was placed in a passing automobile and rushed into Arkadelphia but was dead before they reached the city.

He is survived by his estranged wife who is in Gilmer, Texas, by three small sons who witnessed the tragedy, and by his brother in Broken Bow, Oklahoma.

Cotton Sells Off Fraction on Week

Drop of About Quarter Cent for Period Ending September 25

MEMPHIS.—(U. S. Department of Agriculture)—The cotton market during the period September 19 to 25 witnessed rather erratic price movements with quotations September 25 about 3-16c to 1-4c lower than those September 18.

Demand for spot cotton was rather irregular with some buying centers saying that recent financial developments in England had stopped the demand entirely whereas from other centers came reports that demand was broad with increased activity. Inquiries continued centered on the white grades strict low middling to strict middling inclusive in lengths of 7-8 inch up to and including 1-32 inch. Some reports indicated a good demand for low grade cottons from old crop which are however difficult to locate.

It was said that producers were still inclined to hold their cottons from the market at present price levels. Some reports said the offerings in interior of Texas were very light with considerable cotton being held by farmers. Reports indicated that grade of present new crop offerings west of the river ranged from strict low middling to good middling with the average a little better than middling, and east of the river about the same.

According to Bureau of Census there were 16,000 bales of cotton crop prior to September 16th 2,100,000 bales compared with 3,700,000 for like period last season and 3,400,000 for season before. According to the Weather Bureau for the week ending September 22nd, warm and dry weather was experienced in the cotton belt which advanced the crop unusually fast and reports from all sections indicated rapid picking.

Notwithstanding that much cotton is ready to pick and the weather exceptionally favorable for harvest reports continued of rather slow picking in nearly all states.

Premier Laval Announces International Action Monday

CONFER AT BERLIN

French Executive and Briand Meet President von Hindenburg

BERLIN, Germany.—(P)—The creation of a Franco-German economic commission to devise means of cooperation between the two nations was announced late Monday by Premier Laval, of France, on an official visit here.

Before going into the conference with the German Chancellor, Briand and his foreign minister, M. Briand shook hands with President von Hindenburg. The German executive expressed the hope that the conference would solve the economic problems of both nations by united efforts.

Money and Labor

The parley is understood to revolve around the question as to whether it is possible for France, with its surplus capital, to finance Germany's surplus labor.

The newly-created commission is expected to announce measures which will go a long way toward creating business confidence throughout Europe.

In a statement to the press at the outset of the meeting, Premier Laval said for France:

"In the economic field we can proceed immediately. We shall be meticulous to guard the interest of our country. I shall endeavor to combine this duty with a realization of constructive international solidarity."

"Together (with the Germans) we mean to force an instrument in the shape of a Franco-German committee which is to make possible examination of all economic questions of interest to both of our countries.

"The world is restless, and an unprecedented economic crisis has fallen on it; all eyes are on us. Our understanding must come about at least for that foremost will bring us well-being."

Cool Weather To Solve Picking Job

Drop of Thermometer Is Believed to Send Many Into Fields

HELENA.—(P)—Cool weather, rather than the use of jail sentences, Sunday was credited with having produced a change of heart among unemployed loiterers who promised to go voluntarily into the fields Monday as cotton pickers.

Officers admitted the intense heat of the past several weeks had caused the loiterers to refuse to go into the fields, but with the advent of autumn weather Saturday, that obstacle was removed.

"These men simply did not want to pick cotton all day long with a hot sun beating down on them," one officer said, "and I hardly blame them. They did not want to work in the fields in the cool of the morning or late afternoons, because the mosquitoes were fierce."

Officers here several days ago inaugurated a drive to force the loiterers into the fields, because of a shortage of labor.

Meanwhile, the idea has spread until officials in many cities have taken similar steps to force the unemployed to work at various pursuits.

At Pine Bluff, Ark., police rounded up 50 unemployed men and started a community turnip patch of five acres. The turnips and greens when harvested, will be used to feed the unemployed.

Texarkana, Tex., officials posted a "no loafing" notice on the streets and announced "a great big rock pile needs a lot of work done."

Officers at DeValls Bluff, Ark., have rounded up loafers and are sending them into cotton and rice fields.

At Helena, Mont., police rounded up workers have been sent to the fields in towns, which return them to the towns at night.

Although many unemployed have been put to work, a shortage of labor existed until Saturday, but officers believe the cool weather will give the loiterers "the urge" to seek employment as farm hands.

The price paid for cotton picking ranges from 35 to 45 cents a hundred pounds, which in the case of expert pickers, would afford a daily wage of between 75 cents and one dollar.

GOOD. they've got to be good!

Each brings out the best in the other!

The Dodge Sisters are a perfect team—each brings out the best in the other.

The exclusive Chesterfield Cross-Blend is like that. It does much more than merely mix together a few tobaccos, as in ordinary blending. It actually unites the best qualities of one type of tobacco with the best qualities of other types.

Each brings out the best in the other—creating extra mildness, natural sweetness, and far better taste.

Chesterfield holds everlastingly to higher standards—

BETTER TOBACCOS, the mildest and ripest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that can be brought.

BETTER PAPE, pure, smooth, rich—the most made.

BETTER MANUFACTURE, safeguarded throughout by laboratory supervision of every material, every step.

Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield. And nobody ever will.

The Dodge Sisters—internationally famous Vaudeville Team
